Revue de presse

"British-based Slinkachu is no average street artist. His works are often achingly beautiful, biting satirical, and are always very, very small." --Huffington Post Présentation de l'éditeur

A tiny mother and child bustle through a dusty township in Cape Town, while a miniature informant whispers in a telephone box in Beijing. Thumb-sized riot police climb the Acropolis in Athens, while an inch-high woman pole-dances around a lamp-post in a Hong Kong red-light district. From West London to the West Bank, from the scorched of Marrakech to the lowest of low-rise views of Manhattan, all life is here. Global Model Village collects together the international works of Slinkachu, the London-based artist who as part of his "Little People project" has been abandoning tiny model people on the mean streets of the world since 2006. Documented through photography, these little dramas of hope and tragedy, loneliness and humour somehow get to the heart of what it means to be human ; to be alone among millions of other people, all experiencing the melancholy and magic of life in the big city. Biographie de l'auteur

'Slinkachu' is a London-based artist whose creations can be found in doorways and cracks in the pavement around the world. See more of his pictures at www.little-people.blogspot.co.uk
